One Minute Art History is an experimental short film by the director and educator Cao Shu that encompasses the entire art history in one minute. Director and educator Cao Shu enclosed the entire history of art in One Minute Art History, an experimental short film that lasts just over a minute. Throughout the film, the central protagonist makes small movements that correspond to a frame and each frame corresponds to a different historical period.

The short film begins in ancient Egypt and progresses through Chinese ink paintings, Japanese silkscreen prints, Modigliani-style portraits and finally to the much-loved Basquiat.

1 minute to revisit the most beautiful history in the world and let yourself be enchanted by this incredible animation.
